Baby memorial service

A special service to remember babies who have died prematurely or suddenly will be held in South Tyneside on Saturday, November 8th.

The chaplaincy team at South Tyneside District Hospital has arranged it for families who derive comfort from having their loss acknowledged and through coming together with others who share the same experience.

The service will be at South Shields Crematorium, John Reid Road, at 3pm. Memorial books which, at the wishes of parents, record the names of babies, will be on view.
